NUTRITION TO GO

Pizza and fries – that has to be a junk food meal, right? WRONG! Kids love the taste of our pizza and fries, sure. But those items are also formulated to be healthier than you might assume, especially when they are part of a complete, nutritious meal like the meals we serve every day!

ADDITION BY SUBTRACTION.

Perhaps the single best way to ADD to your good health is to SUBTRACT one item from your diet: ADDED SUGAR. Nutritionists recommend that we get no more than 5-10% of daily calories from added sugar -- about 25-50 grams per day (6-12 teaspoons). Sound like a lot? A single 12-oz. soda contains 40 grams. That's like eating 10 sugar packs!

And you'll also find added sugar in lots of places you might not expect -- ketchup, BBQ sauce, bread, cereal (even those marketed as "healthy"), vitamin water, protein and granola bars, sports drinks -- even spaghetti sauce. Added sugar is required to be listed separately on nutrition labels. So get in the habit of checking that out! And choose whole, natural, unprocessed food when you can.

Sugar adds up!

On average, we should eat fewer than 12 teaspoons (about 50g) of added sugar a day. Six teaspoons or fewer is even better. The puzzle below can help you see if you're eating too much sugar for your own good -- but remember to check the nutrition labels, because added sugar (in many different disguises!) is contained in a lot of processed foods that we don't even think of as sweet!

Fit the names of the added sugar sources into the crossword puzzle.

- Soda 10 teaspoons added sugar
- Milk Shake 25 teaspoons
- Candy (1 package) 5-10 teaspoons
- Fruit Drink 4-8 teaspoons
- Ice Cream 10 teaspoons
- Cookies 2-8 teaspoons
- Frosted Cereal 3 teaspoons
- Pastry 3-12 teaspoons

These figures are averages and are for added sugar only -- some sugar occurs naturally in unprocessed foods like whole fruits and vegetables.
